

Animal Training Webinars for Zoo Professionals

Virtual Presentations for Groups

Today's technology has opened the door for a new affordable way for organizations to facilitate continuing education and enhance animal caregiver skills. Virtual presentations on science based training technology and its practical application are now available from professional animal trainer and behavior consultant Barbara Heidenreich. These presentations feature PowerPoint, video examples, audience interaction and opportunities for Q & A. Projected on the big screen and joining you via the internet you can reach a large in-house audience without the travel expenses usually incurred for professional consultants and speakers.
